

Dr. John Stewart Henry, M.D., C.M., F.A.C.S., F.R.C.O.G., F.R.C.S.[C] died in Saint John, New Brunswick on June 8, 1973 following a series of illnesses. He is survived by his wife, Lydia (Leila) M. Henry, Croix de Guerre, M.B., CH.B. (Sheffield 1916), M.D. (1920); a son, Dr. John Stewart Henry of Charlottetown, P.E.I.; a daughter, Anne, Mrs. J. W. H. Murdoch of Rothesay, N.B. and nine grandchildren.

Doctor Henry was born on September 13, 1892 in Salisbury, N.B. He began his career as a teacher, first in the rural schools in New Brunswick and later in the Saint John High School. In 1915 he enlisted in the Machine Gun Corps. He served in France until 1919 and was wounded three times, the last at Vimy Ridge.

After demobilization he joined the distinguished class of "returned soldiers" in Med. '24 at McGill. He graduated with distinction, winning the coveted Holmes Gold Medal for the highest aggregate honours in all four years. Then followed six years of postgraduate study at The Montreal General Hospital and the Royal Victoria Hospital, in Freiburg and in Vienna. Returning to Montreal in 1930 he established practice and joined the staff of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology of McGill University and the Royal Victoria Montreal Maternity Hospital. A host of patients in all walks of life remember him for his kindly concern and devotion to their needs.

He taught generations of medical students sound principles of patient care based on the latest scientific knowledge of the day and tempered by a social awareness that was ahead of his time. He was closely associated with the clinical application of the pioneer research in female hormones developed by J. S. L. Browne and his group.

The Canadian Medical Association appointed him a Senior Member. He was a founding member and later President of both the Montreal Obstetrical and Gynecological Society and the Society of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists of Canada.

After 36 years of active teaching and practice he retired to his cottage in the Laurentians with its breathtaking view, where he took delight in entertaining his friends and indulging in his love of birds and trees and flowers. Now there was time for his garden, his books and his record library.

Two years ago the Henrys moved to Rothesay, N.B. to be near their children and grandchildren.

Doctor Henry was a family man, gentle and kindly. He loved people and especially children and will long be remembered by a host of individuals whose lives have been touched by his.

A.R.

Dr. Claude Allison Patterson died at Smiths Falls, Ontario on June 25, 1973 at the age of 86.

Dr. Patterson was born in Athens, Ont. He obtained his M.D. from Queen's University in 1908 and also held a diploma from Rockwood Hospital, Kingston. He began practice in 1911 in Forest, Ont., where he also served as medical officer of health, and later entered practice in Jasper, Ont., where he was also district coroner. He retired from active practice in 1958.

Dr. Patterson is survived by his widow Katie and one sister.

Dr. Earle Macbeth Watson died at London, Ontario on June 30, 1973 at the age of 77.

Dr. Watson was born in the London area. He graduated in Medicine from the University of Western Ontario in 1919, a silver medallist, and took postgraduate training in England where he was one of the pioneers in the clinical use of insulin.

He was head of the department of pathological chemistry and later professor emeritus at the University of Western Ontario where he was engaged in teaching and research, particularly in the field of diabetes. He retired from the University in 1960.

Dr. Watson was a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of London, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada and the American College of Physicians. He also held an M.Sc. degree.

Dr. Bruce Campbell Hardy died at Scarborough, Ontario on July 3, 1973 at the age of 62.

Dr. Hardy was born in Toronto and graduated in Medicine from the University of Toronto in 1935. He took postgraduate training in England and was admitted to fellowship in the Royal College of Surgeons. He was also a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

During World War II he served in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, obtaining the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was chief surgeon and commanding officer of several Canadian service hospitals in Britain, France and Belgium.

On his return to Toronto he entered private surgical practice and was appointed to the staffs of the Toronto General and The Toronto Western Hospitals. In 1954 he joined the staff of the Scarborough General Hospital.

Dr. Hardy is survived by his widow June and a daughter.

Dr. Edwin Minter Crawford of Pointe Claire, Quebec died on July 6, 1973 at the age of 78.

Dr. Crawford was born on May 30, 1895 at Montreal. He graduated in Medicine from McGill University in 1926 and took postgraduate training in radiology. He held fellowship in the Canadian College of Radiology, the Faculty of Radiologists of Great Britain and the American College of Radiology.

He practised radiology in Pointe Claire and held hospital appointments at The Montreal General Hospital (1931-41) and the Queen Elizabeth Hospital of Montreal, serving as Chief Radiologist from 1941 to 1965, Emeritus Radiologist from 1965 to 1970 and Honorary Consultant from 1970 until his death.

He was past-president of the Canadian Association of Radiologists and the Montreal Medical-Chirurgical Society. He was senior elder in Cedar Park United Church and secretary of the West Island Senior Citizens Association.

Dr. Crawford is survived by his widow Rachel, one daughter, one son and nine grandchildren.

Dr. Brian Joyce O'Brien died at St. John's, Newfoundland on July 7, 1973.

Dr. O'Brien was born in Galway, Ireland on June 10, 1918. He attended Mungret College at Limerick and the National University of Ireland, graduating in Medicine from the latter in 1943. He did postgraduate study in public health.

In 1946 he arrived in Newfoundland, settling in Searston in the Codroy Valley where he served as medical health officer. After seven years he moved to Corner Brook where he established a general practice. In 1958 he undertook studies in psychiatry at the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon. He practised in Prince Edward Island for three years, then returned to Corner Brook where he practised psychiatry for two years. He had been in ill health for the past two years.

Dr. O'Brien is survived by his widow Joan, three sons, and six brothers and sisters, all doctors.

Dr. Robert Perry Walker died on July 9, 1973 at Brockville, Ontario at the age of 75.

Dr. Walker was born at Cardinal, Ont. on February 10, 1898. He graduated in Medicine from Queen's University in 1923 and took postgraduate training in Detroit, New York City, Binghamton, N.Y., Hamilton, Ont. and at the Brockville Psychiatric Hospital.

He practised medicine in Prescott, Ont. from 1929 to 1960, then joined the staff of the Leeds, Grenville and Lanark District Health Unit as assistant medical officer of health. He retired in 1970 owing to ill health. He was a life member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Dr. Walker served on the Prescott Board of Education for 20 years. He was an elder of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Prescott, an active member of the Prescott and Brockville Rotary Clubs, past master of the Masonic Lodge at Cardinal and an active worker in the Progressive Conservative Association.

During World War II he was stationed at Camp Petawawa and Barriefield and held the rank of major.

Dr. Walker is survived by his second wife Helen, a son Robert, a daughter, Dr. Helen Walker Beals, and five grandchildren.

Dr. Albert William Hardy died at Edmonton on July 18, 1973.

Dr. Hardy was born at Edmonton on May 10, 1907. After graduating in Medicine from the University of Alberta in 1936 he took postgraduate training in surgery at the Misericordia Hospital, Edmonton and the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. He held fellowship in the Royal College of Surgeons of Canada and the American College of Surgeons.

A general surgeon specializing in abdominal surgery, he practised in Edmonton, with appointments to the staffs of the University of Alberta Hospital and the Royal Alexandra Hospital. He was associated for 28 years with the Edmonton plant of the Swift Canadian Company Limited. He was Assistant Clinical Professor of Surgery in the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Alberta.

He was president of the Edmonton Academy of Medicine in 1955 and served on the Board of Governors of the Royal Alexandra Hospital for six years. He was a member of the medical advisory committee on the establishment of the Glenrose Provincial General Hospital in Edmonton in 1963, and subsequently served that hospital in several capacities.

During World War II he served in the 1st Division of the West Nova Scotia Regiment with the rank of captain. He was wounded during the Sicilian Campaign, on the day of landing in Italy, and was hospitalized in North Africa and England; on his return to Edmonton in January 1944 he spent a further two months in hospital. He received a number of decorations.

Dr. Hardy is survived by his widow Margaret, one son and one daughter.

Dr. Patrick Gerald Costigan died at Banff, Alberta on July 19, 1973.

Dr. Costigan was born at Stettler, Alta. on April 30, 1917. After graduating with a B.A. and M.D. from the University of Alberta in 1943 he joined the 1st Parachute Battalion of the Canadian Army as a medical officer and participated in the D-Day invasion.

On his return to Canada he entered family practice in Banff as a general physician and surgeon. He took special interest in orthopedics and was a recognized authority on ski injuries. He was District Coroner.

His athletic interests included tennis, skating, skiing and golf, and particularly hockey — he was an outstanding player at university and after the war on the Canmore Legionnaires hockey team, and later he coached junior hockey teams.

Dr. Costigan is survived by his widow Mary, one daughter and two sons.

Dr. Joseph Howe Brownell Grant died at Vancouver on July 24, 1973 at the age of 76.

Dr. Grant was born at Port Elgin, New Brunswick on February 22, 1897. After graduating in Medicine from McGill University in 1921 he interned at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and the Children's Hospital, Buffalo. His postgraduate work included two years' study of calcium metabolism and the endocrines at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City and two years' training in pediatrics. He achieved Canadian certification in pediatrics.

He entered private practice in pediatrics in 1929 in Vancouver. He was on the attending staff of The Vancouver General Hospital, becoming senior pediatrician in 1945. In 1951 he was appointed clinical assistant professor in the Department of Pediatrics at the University of British Columbia. He was past-president of the North Pacific Pediatric Society.

Dr. Grant is survived by his widow Cerise, one son and one daughter.

Dr. Hector Murray Simpson died at London, Ontario on August 2, 1973 at the age of 75.

Dr. Simpson was born at Niagara Falls, Ont. on June 27, 1898. He graduated in Medicine from the University of Western Ontario in 1922 and took postgraduate training in the United States at Boston and Ann Arbor, and in Scotland, obtaining his F.R.C.S. from Edinburgh. He also held an M.Sc. degree.

He practised surgery in London and later entered general practice. He was on the staffs of St. Joseph's and Victoria Hospitals and taught anatomy for some years at the University of Western Ontario.

He was a life member of the London Academy of Medicine and was a member of the Rotary Club, the Tuscan Lodge AF and AM, the London Hunt and Country Club and the London Club.

He was a reserve officer in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Dr. Simpson is survived by his widow Ercel and his brother, Dr. G. Victor Simpson of Washington, D.C.